Narrative

INGRAHAM finished her 1993 WESTPAC on 15 December 1993 and started 1994 in a combined Post-Deployment and Holiday stand down. After stand down we participated in a Chief of Naval Operations project and went through the first of many ISIC Engineering Readiness Assessments. After IERA#1, we were visited by COMNAVSURFPAC's INSURV team. Immediately following INSURV we began a 3.5 month SRA in Long Beach. The end of SRA signalled the beginning of our workups for our 1995 deployment with CART IIB and various Aviation Assist Visits. In June, we made our first trip to Everett, WA, our new homeport. We were greeted with an excellent reception and superb weather. We commenced the TSTA workup phase with two 2 week visits to San Diego for TSTA I and TSTA II. Families began to move to Everett as early as July and finished as late as November. INGRAHAM made her official change of homeport in September and received another excellent reception, but more typical rainy and cool weather. Off of the coast of Oregon, we had the opportunity to aid the fishing vessel "Reliant", who had suffered engine and flooding casualties. After our arrival in Everett, we commenced another 2 week stand down for final moves and to give the crew a chance to get settled in the new community. In September we began our grueling workups for the Operational Propulsion Plant Examination. We staked out 2 x 10 mile area along the Canadian border which was dubbed "the OPPE Box" as our regular training OPAREA. After 2 weeks of workups, INGRAHAM left the Pacific Northwest for a maintenance availability in Alameda, CA. In the six weeks in Alameda, the crew made excellent use of San Francisco and the surrounding areas for liberty and significant work was accomplished on all parts of the ship. We also completed our Logistics Management Assessment. We returned to the Northwest in December and spent a week inport before heading out for more work in the OPPE Box. Before returning to Everett we made our only 1994 visit to a foreign port in Victoria. After 3 days we returned to Everett and commenced our holiday standown.
