3. Narrative. ROBERT G BRADLEY began the year 2003 moored in homeport, NS MAYPORT, Florida with a portion of the crew on Christmas leave. There was uncertainty in the ship's schedule due to the fact that contingency plans were being developed for the invasion of Iraq. Due to RGB's outstanding Engineering Underway Demonstration in December of 2002 and well above average material condition, RGB was being considered for an accelerated Deployment either to Fifth Fleet in the Arabian Gulf or SOUTHCOM to allow another ship to deploy to the Arabian Gulf. This acceleration would have required all remaining inspections to be complete by the end of January with Deployment on the first of February, four months early.

By the time all crewmembers returned from leave on 9 January, the decision was made to keep RGB on the original Deployment schedule. The ship was underway for training in the JAX OPAREA and anchored for anti-terrorism, force protection small boat attack training. Later in the month, RGB transited to Naval Weapons Station YORKTOWN, VA for an ammunition onload. RGB encountered USS ARTHUR W. RADFORD (DD 968) and USS BARRY (DDG 52) coming home from their Deployment at the Norfolk sea buoy "CB" in a snow storm early on the morning of 23 January. Upon completion of ammunition offload, RGB transited to Norfolk Naval Station for a weekend port visit. After a brief stop, RGB conducted training in the VACAPES OPAREA and the JAX OPAREA on her way home to Mayport, Florida.

On 3 February, ROBERT G BRADLEY began the 1B Turbine Mid-frame change out which was completed on 16 February. CDR Strano, ROBERT G BRADLEY's Commanding Officer attended the Counter

Subj: USS ROBERT G BRADLEY (FFG 49) COMMAND HISTORY FOR CALENDAR YEAR 2003

Narcotics Operations Summit, hosted by Commander, Destroyer Squadron SIX in Key West, Florida to discuss strategies in the upcoming Deployment to South America. February was a challenging month for the crew with the final inspections of the training cycle taking place. On 10-11 February, ROBERT G BRADLEY conducted and completed her Cruise Missile Tactical Qualification (CMTQ). On 12 February, RGB completed the COMDESRON FOURTEEN Communications Readiness Certification. After getting underway for some last minute polishing of the watch teams, ROBERT G. BRADLEY completed the basic phase of the training cycle with a unique White Cell Final Evaluation Problem (FEP) and Anti-Terrorism/Force Protection Certification both inport Mayport and in the JAX OPAREA. This unique scenario was imposed on the ship by the Afloat Training Group and the crew had to respond as if the ship was actually under attack.

On 3 March, RGB commenced a C5RA/HM&ERA to evaluate combat systems and engineering equipment in preparation for Deployment. Many technicians from FTSC/LANT Norfolk and Mayport came onboard and repaired, adjusted, and groomed many systems making RGB like new again. On 14 March, RGB hosted a Commodore's Call where Commodore Jackson came onboard to present awards and speak to the crew before Deployment. During the week of 17-21 March, RGB was underway in the JAX OPAREA conducting Week One Workups with her new helicopter detachment, HSL 46 det SIX, the Grandmasters. Several exercises and much needed training was conducted to ensure the ship could conduct safe helicopter operations. After returning to port for the weekend, the ship was underway on 24 March enroute to a port visit in Port Canaveral, FL. Many Sailors aboard used this opportunity to visit the Kennedy Space Center and enjoy the restaurants and tourist attractions in Port Canaveral and Cocoa Beach. RGB moored at Naval Station MAYPORT, on 28 March. On 31 March, the SPS-55 Surface Search Radar was replaced.

April 2003 was a busy month for ROBERT G BRADLEY. RGB sailed for the Atlantic Underwater Tracking and Evaluation Range, Andros Island, in the Bahamas for Group Sail 03-2 on Tuesday, April 1st. Group Sail was led by Commodore James Martin, Commander Destroyer Squadron SIX, embarked in USS TICONDEROGA (CG 47), and also included the British SSN HMS TORBAY. RGB ran the Ships' Self Radiated Noise Range at AUTEK to determine the ship's self noise, conducted USW operations with HMS TORBAY, and acted as Search Attack Unit Commander of U.S. forces consisting of RGB, TICONDEROGA, and their helicopters against the HMS TORBAY. RGB conducted two over-the-side exercise torpedo shots. During this exercise, RGB was the test ship for the new experimental British torpedo being tested by HMS TORBAY. On 6 April, Commodore Martin embarked for the day as RGB and TICONDEROGA departed the Bahamas passing near Nassau enroute to the Cherry Point OPAREA for Commander, Second Fleet's Multi-National Maritime Exercise (MNME 03-1). This exercise allowed several NATO Navies to come together to learn about how their counterparts conduct operations as well as their capabilities. A day later ROBERT G BRADLEY safely and efficiently conducted a refueling at sea with USNS LARAMIE. On 8 April, RGB commenced the Multi-National Maritime Exercise (MNME 03-1) as a member of the ORANGE FORCES commanded by Commodore Martin. Following this exercise, ROBERT G BRADLEY conducted a night underway replenishment with USNS LARAMIE in a very large sea swell. Following this replenishment, ROBERT G BRADLEY headed back to homeport mooring 15 April.

RGB commenced the first Preparation for Overseas Movement (POM) leave period on 1 May giving the crew some rest and time with their families. A week later, the Supply Management Assist Visit began. The assist visit went so well with all Divisions of the Supply Department achieving above a 90% score that it was converted into the Supply Management Inspection which concluded on 16 May. On 27 May the POM leave period ended and on 30 May ROBERT G BRADLEY hosted a Family Day Cruise where crewmembers brought family members and friends aboard for a day underway. Rear Admiral Curtis, Commander Naval Surface Group TWO, embarked with his family for the day. In addition to a steel beach picnic on the flight deck, RGB's helo, CUTLASS 472, came out for an air demonstration, and the ship completed a CIWS and 76mm gun pacfire.

On 2 June, ROBERT G BRADLEY deployed to the SOUTHCOM AOR for a six-month Deployment. HSL-46 Detachment 6 embarked. The ship sailed at 0900 enroute to the Caribbean Sea for Counter Narcotics Operations. Initially, RGB was to pull into Cozumel, Mexico for a port visit, but that visit was cancelled so that ROBERT G BRADLEY could participate in a drug smuggling interdiction off the coast of Honduras. The weather was pretty rough and the go-fast run from Colombia to Mexico never materialized. The ship moored on 07 June at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba for fuel and supplies. Getting underway later that afternoon, RGB then transited to the coast of Colombia looking for any go-fast boats that might be coming out at night. The ship arrived in Cartagena, Columbia for a port visit on Friday, 13 June. USS MUSTIN (DDG 89) arrived the same day for a port visit as she was transiting from Pascagoula, Mississippi to San Diego CA, her new homeport. The wardrooms of the two ships went to dinner the first night inport in old town Cartagena. Tours and official courtesies were conducted on MUSTIN with the Commanding Officers of MUSTIN and ROBERT G BRADLEY with the Superintendent of the Colombian Naval Academy, and the Admiral in charge of the Caribbean Colombian Fleet.

After departing Cartagena, the ship sailed for Colon, Panama and anchored in Cristobal Harbor on the morning of the 17th of June awaiting a Panama Canal transit time. The ship got underway at 1930 for a Southbound transit of the Panama Canal arriving in Vasco Nunez de Balboa around 0600 in the morning for fuel, stores, and rest. The ship sailed later that day to begin her first Eastern Pacific patrol looking for drug smugglers. RGB moored in Manta, Ecuador from 28 June through 1 July for a port visit.

On 11 July crewmembers of the ROBERT G BRADLEY learned the ways of the Shellback for "Crossing the Line" or Equator. ROBERT G BRADLEY arrived in Panama for a port visit from 13-16 July. While transiting out to her Eastern Pacific patrol area after the port visit, RGB was assigned as On-Scene Commander for the Search and Rescue operation for fishing vessel FUFU CHEN crewmembers off the coast of Costa Rica on 17 July. The vessel had been missing for 22 days. On 17 July, three survivors were recovered from the fishing vessel COSTA DEL SOL, and were then transferred to RGB for medical treatment and food. The survivors were transferred to the Costa Rican Coast Guard for further transfer ashore. On 19 July, the fourth survivor was recovered onboard fishing vessel ARELIS and transferred to ROBERT G BRADLEY for further transfer to a Costa Rican patrol boat. On 20 July ROBERT G BRADLEY continued her Counter Drug patrol in the Eastern Pacific. RGB again moored in VNB for a port visit from 26-29 July. On 08 August, RGB transferred 19 prisoners and contraband from USS RENTZ (FFG 46) to RGB for further transfer to Panama. RGB arrived at anchor off Panama City for transfer of the prisoners on 13 August and proceeded into port for a port visit from 15-18 August.

On the afternoon of 25 August, ROBERT G BRADLEY was tasked to find the Fishing Vessel LLANERO which was thought to have drugs onboard. After sailing over 300 miles at 30 knots remaining undetected, RGB found the vessel at approximately 0200 with a decoy vessel. During the early morning hours, RGB's rhib was put in the water and sent to visually identify if the vessel was in fact the LLANERO. Upon identification, it was found to be the decoy vessel F/V PAMELA ALEXANDER. Once LLANERO was found, RGB remained over the horizon monitoring its location. At approximately 1000 on 26 August, RGB was given authorization to pounce on the LLANERO. RGB sailed in at 30 knots and arrived alongside at about 100 yards. Catching them completely off guard, RGB interrogated the vessel Llanero, which flew the Nicaraguan flag without proper documentation of Nicaraguan decent. RGB was given authorization to board, and after 15 hours of searching, 1.85 tons of cocaine was located in a false compartment inside a fuel tank. The 8 crew members were taken as prisoner and the cocaine was removed using the rhib. LLANERO was found unfit for sea on the 27th of August and was sunk by 76mm gun, 25mm gun, 40mm grenades, and the GAU 16 from the helicopter. On 27 August, ROBERT G BRADLEY sailed for the Panama Canal enroute to NS MAYPORT, FL for a Mid-Deployment Availability. After refueling in VNB Panama, the ship transited Northbound through the Panama Canal on the evening of 28 August.

On 30 August, RGB received word from JIATF South that a go-fast boat was making a run from Colombia to Mexico with cocaine onboard and that we needed to intercept the vessel. RGB turned around and sailed at 30 knots to intercept. Flying CUTLASS 472 ahead and in conjunction with Coast Guard C-130, the go-fast vessel was intercepted. He changed course and started heading west towards Colombian island waters. CUTLASS 472 repeatedly attempted to force the vessel to change course or capsize, but he continued westward entering the territorial limits of the Island de Providencia. Once there, he jettisoned his bales of cocaine over the side and beached on the island. The crew abandoned the vessel and escaped. The Colombian Coast Guard recovered 1.3 tons of cocaine and the vessel.

RGB resumed her transit to Mayport Florida arriving on 02 September for a Mid-Deployment Availability (IMAV) from 02-13 September.

During the IMAV, CDR Strano, along with the Commanding Officers of other ships in Surface Group TWO, flew to Fallon, Nevada, just east of Reno, to attend Strike University at Naval Air Station Fallon. On 05 September, Commodore Jackson was relieved by Commodore Mark Klatt as Commander, Destroyer Squadron FOURTEEN.

Subj: USS ROBERT G BRADLEY (FFG 49) COMMAND HISTORY FOR CALENDAR YEAR 2003

ROBERT G BRADLEY sailed on 13 September enroute to the Panama Canal to continue her patrols in the Eastern Pacific and continue South to circumnavigate South America and join other nations for the Atlantic phase of UNITAS. ROBERT G BRADLEY anchored in Cristobal Harbor, Panama awaiting a time for the Southbound transit of the Panama Canal. At 1930 on the evening of 17 September, RGB commenced her third transit of the canal. Arriving in Vasco Nunez de Balboa, Panama at 0400 hours for a brief stop for fuel and stores, RGB sailed at 1700 to the Eastern Pacific enroute to Valparaiso, Chile. From 26 September to 04 October, ROBERT G BRADLEY was moored in Valparaiso, Chile for a port visit. While there, all preparations on some 62 charts were made for the transit of the Chilean Inland Waterways and Strait of Magellan. RGB sailed for the inland waterways on 04 October.

On 06 October, ROBERT G BRADLEY entered the Chilean Inland Waterways enroute to the Strait of Magellan. On 07 October, RGB sailed past the English Narrows and on the morning of 08 October, sailed past Canal Gray and entered the Strait of Magellan arriving in Punta Arenas, Chile at 1600. Upon arrival, RGB moored outboard USS STUMP (DD 978) for fuel, stores, and a night of liberty. Embarked in USS STUMP was Commodore Klatt, COMDESRON FOURTEEN, and his staff. On 09 October, RGB and STUMP sailed through the remainder of the Strait of Magellan enroute to Puerto Belgrano, Argentina for UNITAS.

RGB arrived in Puerto Belgrano on 12 October at 1000 to participate in the briefings and social events kicking off UNITAS 45-04. Fifteen ships from six nations (Argentina, Peru, Uruguay, Brazil, Spain, and the United States) participated in UNITAS. The following morning, Commodore Klatt, Commander Destroyer Squadron FOURTEEN embarked RGB with his staff. On 16 October ROBERT G BRADLEY sailed with the staff embarked and conducted an at sea helicopter transfer of everyone to USS STUMP for the exercise. On 17 October RGB conducted an UNREP with ARA PATAGONIA, an Argentine oiler. On Sunday, 19 October, RGB acted as Search Attack Unit (SAU) commander for four other vessels conducting a USW exercise with mini-mobile targets and torpedo firings.

On 21 October, Commodore Klatt transferred his flag to RGB.

On 22 October, RGB became Anti-Air Warfare Commander for a BQM-74E drone exercise and launched and recovered drones from VC-6 from the flight deck for gunnery and missile firings. RGB fired her 76mm gun on two separate drone runs through the formation. After transferring COMDESRON FOURTEEN to USS STUMP, all ships fired on the Mayport Afloat Training Group roboski for the SUW-5 Exercise. RGB fired her 76mm gun at the roboski for a total of 71 rounds fired for the day. That evening after a pass in review of the ships, the UNITAS 45-04 Final Battle Problem began. RGB was assigned to the Orange Forces led by the Brazilians.

On 25 October, Rear Admiral Vinson Smith, Commander Naval Forces SOUTH, and former Commanding Officer of ROBERT G BRADLEY embarked from USS STUMP overnight for the transit back to Puerto Belgrano. Strong winds delayed all ships entering port until the afternoon of 26 October at Naval Station Puerto Belgrano for the final UNITAS briefings and social events. RGB hosted the Argentine Chief of Naval Operations onboard for Rear Admiral Smith.

On 28 October, RGB sailed for Montevideo, Uruguay for a port visit arriving on 29 October. While there, Sailors from RGB conducted two Community Relations Projects. The first was to clean the statue of President Franklin Roosevelt outside the United States Ambassador's house. The second involved building a computer classroom in the Martin Luther King Elementary School in Montevideo. The project involved painting the entire exterior of the school, laying new carpet throughout, running electrical power into the classroom, and installing new desks, tables, and computers.

On 01 November, RGB hosted a reception onboard on the flight deck for Ambassador Silverstein, the United States Ambassador to Uruguay, and the Ambassadors from Russia, China, European Union, and South Africa as well as their senior military assistants. ROBERT G BRADLEY sailed on 02 November for Rio de Janeiro mooring pierside downtown on 05 November for a port visit.

On 06 November, RGB hosted a reception onboard for the U.S. General Consul, and the General Consuls from Norway, France, Poland, and Venezuela and their military assistants. RGB sailed for Fortaleza, Brazil on 08 November.

On 13 November, RGB hosted two Brazilian Senators and local senior military authorities for lunch. After an enjoyable port visit, RGB sailed north on 15 November for a passing exercise with the Venezuelan Navy on the 19th of November.

RGB conducted a "crossing the line" ceremony on Sunday morning, 16 November for Sailors from RGB and STUMP. Upon completion, RGB departed the equator sailing north to the Venezuelan coast. Upon completing the passing exercise, RGB detached from USS STUMP and sailed independently to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. RGB sailed through the St. Vincent passage into the Caribbean on the evening of the 19th arriving in St. Thomas on the morning of 21 November.
